

Vilas Park Zoo's Wolf Bites Boy, 11

MADISON, Feb. 20 (UPI) — Vilas Park Zoo officials disclosed Tuesday that an 11-year-old boy from Moline, Ill., was bitten by a wolf at the zoo Saturday.

Thomas Wilson was nipped by the wolf when he stuck his hand through the bars of a cage, the zoo reported. The boy was with a choral group visiting the zoo.

Mrs. Henry Barschall, Madison, told officials that the boy had been bitten. The boy said he would be treated in his home town for the injury.

Vilas Park officials tried Tuesday to contact the Wilson family.
